

NFI signs onto the POST Promise; committing to workplace safety and health practices in preventing the spread of COVID-19

Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada, July 7, 2020 – (TSX: NFI) NFI Group Inc. (“NFI” or the “Company”), today committed to help lead the restoration of public confidence by signing onto the POST Promise. The People Outside Safely Together (POST) Promise is a declaration by Canadian companies to uphold five key steps to create a safe workplace for employees and customers, and NFI is one of the first manufacturers to sign on.

By making the POST Promise, NFI commits to practicing social and physical distancing, enhanced sanitization, and workplace protection measures – actions the organization formalized in April through the NFI Safe Return to Work Protocol, and put into effect throughout May as facilities returned to work.

The POST Promise is a private sector-led initiative comprised of a training and education platform, supported by workplace signage, that is designed to foster greater cooperation and confidence in workplace health and safety practices that help prevent the spread of COVID-19. Committing to the POST Promise requires upholding five key steps to workplace safety:

1. Maintain physical distancing (keeping distance of at least 2 meters).
2. Stay home if unwell (and actively self-monitor for symptoms of COVID-19).
3. Practice respiratory etiquette (coughing into the bend of your arm, or wearing a face mask when social distancing is not possible).
4. Clean and disinfect regularly.
5. Wash and sanitize hands (wash hands for at least 20 seconds).

“Protecting the health and safety of our team is the most important aspect of our operations,” said Paul Soubry, President and Chief Executive Officer of NFI. “Since February, our team rapidly responded as the world changed around us, investing thousands of hours in developing and executing social and physical distancing, continuous cleaning and sanitization measures, new PPE requirements, and other guidance to govern how we work, while we’re at work. By signing onto the POST Promise, we make a public commitment to keeping our team, customers, and their customers safe, and to helping restore public confidence in work environments and public spaces – including public transit, the spinal cord of mobility in communities around the world.”

While the POST Promise was created in Canada, NFI has applied POST practices to all of its 50 facilities located in 10 countries. Other companies committing to the POST Promise include Payworks, BASF Canada, Labatt Breweries of Canada, the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, and BOMA Canada.
